POSTscripts to the News-Sentinel Rehabilitation Program

State director of rehabilitation Robert E. Howard announced last week that the great need for a rehabilitation workshop in Salinas to serve handicapped persons in Monterey County will soon be met as a result of a grant of $73,657 by the State Department of Rehabilitation.

The grant, presented to Salinas Valley Workshop, Inc., at 136 Abbott Street, Salinas enables the organization to establish a program of services which will help rehabilitate physically and mentally handicapped persons in the county into employment. It is expected that the facility will eventually serve as many as 150 disabled persons a year.

Haddad Appointed

Mayor Louis Haddad was appointed to the Monterey County Republican Central Committee, Fourth District, and Reagan for Governor Executive Committee for Monterey County last week. The appointment was announced by Dr. Donald Schma, Monterey County Republican Central Committee Chairman.

Burt Talcott

The office of congressman Burt Talcott this week announced the approval of a federal grant by the Department of Transportation, federal highway administration, for $50,000. The grant will be used for the architectural design of the Blanco Road Bridge. Cost of the bridge will exceed $500,000. The design grant is 10 percent of the total cost. The money is from the emergency relief fund of 1969.

Julian Bond Calls Trick

ATLANTA, Georgia - Georgia State Representative Julian Bond characterized the formation of a "National Black Silent Majority Committee" as "another trick by the authors of benign neglect to subvert black political hopes on the altar of white supremacy and political expediency." One of the members of the committee is Mrs. Eloise Banks, publisher of the Arizona Tribune, which supported Goldwater in 1964.

Bank of America

A regular quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share on the capital stock of Bankamerica Corporation has been authorized by the corporation's board of directors.

Publisher's Report Seaside Ripples

A.E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

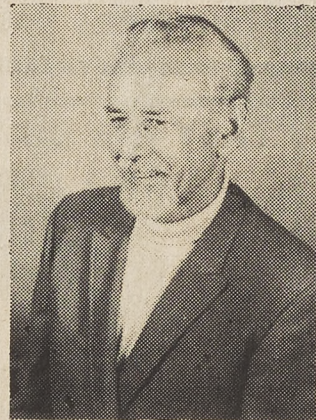

Before writing this column I searched my conscience and tried to figure out some words that would not add to the already inflamed passions that were rampant in the last few city council meetings. I think that at last night's meeting (Monday) I detected a note of conciliation in the attitudes of the members of the City Council. They evidently had their executive session and decided that more harm was being done by their stubborn resistance to each other and tried to mend their ways. This morning I turned to Kahlil Gibran again, my favorite Prophet, and found this quotation which seemed to fit the situation perfectly.

"My brothers, seek counsel of one another, for therein lies the way out of error and futile repentance. The wisdom of the many is your shield against tyranny. For when we turn to one another for counsel we reduce the number of our enemies..."

Sage advice indeed from the pen of the great prophet.

Very briefly to review the events leading up to last night's council meeting: They began with the refusal by the 4th of July parade committee for permission for certain peace groups to march in the parade. The denial brought a protest, naturally. The groups showed up at the last week's city council meeting and wanted to be heard. They had been issued citations by the police for marching alongside the parade and the city at-

Drama Continues To Unfold at Council Meeting

by Art Tagle

The third act of Seaside's continuing night-time drama once again played to capacity crowds in the city council chambers this week. Marked by an air of reconciliation this week's performance was a letdown to those who came expecting more of the verbal fireworks that ignited the last two meetings.

The verbal fireworks started two weeks ago when members of five peninsula anti-war groups attempted to speak before the council. In the process of making this appearance, 23 of the groups' members along with their attorneys were presented with citations. These citations stemmed from the groups' actions in an attempt to join Seaside's Independence Day parade.

Advised beforehand by Seaside city attorney Saul Weingarten that allowing the groups to speak would amount to pre-trial publicity, council members voted to hear representatives of the groups. This action on the part of the council caused a split that Mayor Louis Haddad felt could only be settled by a reelection of the entire city council.

The second act last week brought the citizens of Seaside into the limelight. Inspired into action by headlines in the peninsula's daily newspaper proclaiming "Showdown In Seaside," irate citizens converged on the council chambers.

Once in the council chambers, it was plain that the division that split the council had already reached the citizens of Seaside. Supporters of one side or the other clapped or booed speakers and council members depending on what was said. Donnie Taylor, resident of Seaside and a student at Monterey Peninsula College, brought the point home: "People here are stupid," he said, "they think they are on tv."

Perhaps the most intelligent of the night's speakers was 15-year-old Melvin Fortes, a student at King Junior High, who told the council, "How can you work together when you are fighting each other? I know that Mr. Ross and Mr. McGrath and Mayor Haddad ran against each other. Is that the grudge that holds you apart?"

A great many of the speakers called for the council to forget past grudges and called for them to work together. But Mayor Haddad was insistent that the new council had not accomplished anything towards the good of Seaside and was adamant that the council stand with him for reelection. Due to the absence of Councilwoman Pearl Carey, no action was taken and the curtain fell on act two.

In act three the council realized that they would have to maintain some order among themselves if order was to be maintained during the meeting. The grudges were carried over from act two but they had lost their steam. They dealt mainly with Roberts Rules of Order which had become the by-word of Councilman McGrath in the drama so far.

Rev. T.R. McKinney reading a selection from the book, advised the council that, "The sole responsibility of reelection rests with the Mayor."

Mayor Haddad in a role established in the first act, was insistent that a reelection was necessary. His constant lamentations that the previous council had accomplished more for the city than the present one touched many in the audience. Council members in reply to Haddad all stated that they would not stand for such a move. All explained their motives and voiced faith in the people of Seaside and each other.

As act three continued, the Mayor, still dubious of the good intentions of the council, placed the reelection up to a vote of the council. The council remained firm and he did not get a second to his motion. It was a very emotional experience for all concerned and left many in the audience with a feeling that the council had taken a definite step towards progress. This remains to be seen in act four.

It was during the culmination of act three that a new villain was introduced to plague the antagonists of the drama--the five anti-war groups. Mr. George M. Gividen, member of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School Board, read a very long letter insinuating that the peace groups and various members of the groups were part of the Communist conspiracy.

Mr. Gividen, in the fine Joe McCarthy tradition, horrified and angered many in the audience by his charges that were never quite charges. Mrs. Adeline Di Lorenzo, Seaside realtor, told the council that allowing Gividen to speak jeopardized the very pre-trial publicity that Saul Weingarten and Mayor Haddad had been against.

In furthering another subplot, the council announced intentions of either making Mr. Weingarten the city's full-time city attorney or hiring another attorney to fill this position. Mr. Weingarten has been Seaside city attorney for 15 years.

What further developments face the citizens of Seaside and their emerging new city council? Tune in next week!

Food Bank Is Reopened

A $2500 donation from the Bethlehem Lutheran Church was presented to area service center director, Steve Ross, last week as the Monterey Peninsula Community Food Bank was reopened. Ross was instrumental in moving the food bank to its new location in the service center, 1580 Del Monte Avenue.

Mrs. Mabel Williams, a worker in the war on hunger program, and Bob Seudieri, assistant minister for Bethlehem Lutheran Church, presented the check to Ross. The purpose of the food bank is to stock and supply food to less wealthy residents of the Peninsula. When food is scarce, many of these people often face emergency situations.

The bulk of the donation will be used to help start restocking of a nearly depleted inventory.

Ross allowed the food bank to move into the center as a move to cut down administration costs of the program. A federal grant, which started the program last year, was used to pay rent and salaries of those working for the program, as well as providing emergency food to needy families.

It is hoped that the move to cut costs will enable the program to buy perishables such as milk and meat.

In another move to cut costs, the program will no longer be entirely funded by the office of economic opportunity. Using what has been termed a "team concept", various peninsula organizations will help finance the program.

Donations of food from the business community will also be needed. According to Seudieri, "If donations stop at just money, the program will be defeated." The program sorely needs meat, milk and eggs.

Ross also stressed the need for community support during the reopening ceremonies. "We have a lot of empty shelves here that we hope the community will fill."

One benefactor has already donated four cases of steak seasoning. Now, if someone would only donate something to put it on.

Speakers To Honor Jeffers

William Everson, formerly known as "Brother Antonius," Dr. Robert Brophy and Dr. Ann Ridgeway will be featured speakers at Monterey Peninsula College's second annual tribute to the late Robinson Jeffers, Carmel's "Tor House poet." The tribute will be held in MPC's Lecture Forum Room 103 at 7:30 p.m., Friday, July 31.

Tickets may be purchased at the college's community services office, Abinante Music Store in Monterey, the Thunderbird in Carmel Valley and at the door.

Tribute coordinator, Elaine W. Fitzpatrick, MPC summer session instructor in philosophy, says the evening will be devoted to "looking at Jeffers as a poet belonging more to our time than to his own, particularly with regard to his views on ecology and war."

Everson is a California poet who acknowledges Jeffers as his master and states that their encounter changed the course of his (Everson's) life. A former lay brother of the Dominican Order, he is the author of "Robinson Jeffers: Fragments of an Older Furry." At the tribute, he says he will discuss Jeffers in connection with an article he has written for the Sierra Club entitled "Jeffers: The Poetry of Earth."

Brophy, who spoke at MPC's 1969 Jeffers tribute, is a well-known author, lecturer and writer on the poetry and life of the poet. He is currently an assistant professor of English at Long Beach State College, edits the Occidental College Jeffers Newsletter and is curator of the Gleason Library Jeffers collection in Occidental.

Dr. Ridgeway, of Bowling Green, Ohio, will discuss the vitality of Jeffers' symbols and "the man behind the image."

New Cleaner Opens Here

Anna Lee, Seaside homemaker, has been authorized as distributor of BESTLINE Products, Inc., which supplies biodegradable, water-soluble ZIF all-purpose cleaner, liquid concentrate, car shampoo, rug shampoo, hair shampoo, floor wax and laundry compound.

In addition to offering customers superior products, Bestline Co. gives detailed and accurate information on the proper uses of their products. Its marketing system is unique, in which the philosophy of "Helping people to help themselves" has proven successful among people of all walks of life, from teenager to retired personnel. Anyone interested in becoming local distributors or in knowing more about these products is asked to contact Mrs. Lee at 394-2965.

Bestline is a California corporation, with a factory in San Jose, manufacturing quality products used for home, industrial, school and personal care. William Bailey, its president and chairman of the board, says, "I was talking about pollution 10 years ago, but nobody paid much attention...The difference in Bestline products is phosphate, which ranks very low in comparison with other cleansing agents. We have been doing something to help eliminate water pollution for at least 3 years."

VA Deducts Premium

G.I. insurance policy holders residing in northern California, who receive compensation or pension payments from the Veterans' Administration, may want to consider having their insurance premiums deducted from their monthly checks.

In making that suggestion, Gordon Elliott, VA's regional director, said about a quarter of a million veterans nationwide already pay their premiums in this manner.

To have the payments deducted from benefit checks, a veteran should request VA form 29-888 from the Regional Office, 49 Fourth Street, San Francisco. He should then send the completed form to the VA center where his insurance records are located.

Elliott pointed out that in order to use this convenient method, the monthly check must be equal to or greater than the premium to be paid.

One of the advantages of the deduction method, Elliott explained, is that premiums are automatic, reducing the likelihood that the insurance will lapse.

Seniors Meet At Manor Chamber of Commerce

Youth must be served, but so must their elders, directors of the Monterey County Fair decided recently.

At their last meeting, the board decided to have a senior citizens' day at the coming fair, to be held August 12 through 16.

At the same time, the directors decided to delay discussion of the formation of a junior board until after this year's event.

Friday, August 14, has been decided upon as the day when all senior citizens, who identify themselves either with a Medicare card or a senior citizen's club card, will be admitted to the fairgrounds for half the regular admission price.

But the day does not end with a bargain in admission. Special events director Ed Pio told directors a series of contests is planned for that day as well as a special grandstand show, which will be by and for senior citizens. Prizes and gifts for seniors are also a part of Pio's plan.

The Seaside chamber reports four new members for the month of June. Their applications were approved at the last board of directors meeting. The new members are: Gary Crabb's Chevron Station, 1601 Fremont; Seaside Travel Agency, 1760 Fremont; Frank Bruno's Chevron Station, 1212 Fremont and Camera Masters, Olympia Plaza.

For personal safety, the chamber warns that after dark there should be more lights in and around homes. Lights over front and rear entrances are very discouraging to prowlers. When lights go on, says the police department, crime goes down.

For his work with the fire-works booth, the chamber has expressed special thanks to David Cutino, president of the Pony and Colt League, and to his assistant, David Smith.

The group also wishes to thank all the mothers who gave their time to sell the fireworks. And a note of gratitude also goes to Pat Patrick of Super Save Market, who donated the space for the operation of the booth.

Proceeds from the sale will go to help support the two junior baseball leagues. The local members of the chamber are starting a push for more members. According to them, there are several hundred businesses that are not members of their organization.

Auto Repair Bill Killed

"The California consumer has taken another low blow," Charles O'Brien, chief deputy attorney general, said recently when notified that the State Senate finance committee had killed a bill which would have provided for an automobile repair registration bureau.

The bill, introduced by Anthony Beilenson, senator from Beverly Hills, was a step to protect the public from auto repair fraud.

According to O'Brien, the attorney general's office receives more complaints about repair gyps than any other kind. The bureau recommended by the bill was the only way, in the deputy's eyes, to deal with the flood of complaints.

NEW STORE - Western Auto's new home-owned outlet in Seaside opened its doors this week. The spacious well-stocked store is being run by Ronald Munro (right) and his wife Judi. They brought along to help manage the Western Auto store brother-in-law John Palidin. Western Auto boasts over 4,000 items in the store and another 13,000 available through their catalogue, making 17,000 different purchases you can make. Drop in and make your selection.

Dianne is now residing in Seaside and intends to stay. Welcome to the Peninsula, Dianne, and good luck in your work at Lessie's.

Religion in The POST News - Sentinel

POWER POLITICS
by Reverend McKinney

Next to racism, power politics is the second most evil force operative in any society. Good politics are Christian in nature and operation. Good politics are sound, moral social ethics. Good politics have the needs and concerns of all the citizenry at heart. But the ultimate concern of power politics is with the dominant group in America.

Politics become power politics precisely at the point where persons cease to matter. Power politics is the diplomatic name for the law of the jungle. Power politics are at work when the poor, the powerless, the minority is manipulated, exploited and used by the power politicians for their own selfish interests. When persons are jailed, indicted, fired and threatened because of legitimate dissent, power politics set in motion acts of oppression and depression. Power politics is a dehumanizing force. Power politics will commit any crime and justify it in the name of God, the flag and motherhood.

In the Holy Scriptures we see power politics at play in the incident which took place between King David and Uriah when the king issued a command with the strategy for Uriah's death. Power politics is clearly seen in what Elijah said to Ahab when Naboth resisted a compulsory purchase order and was swept aside by a vicious political strategy.

The Old Testament prophets: Amos, Hosea, Micah, Jeremiah--directed a large portion of their message to those who held political and economic power. So don't tell me that the church should stay out of politics. To divorce religion from politics is ironic, if not stupid. Moses risked his life in organizing a bricklayers' strike, and led the most bitter and prolonged movement for national liberation. Religion and politics do not pull in opposite directions. Religion may offer a man a place and purpose in the ultimate scheme of things, but he is not likely to be too interested in it unless he can see religion as giving him, in the first instance, a place and purpose in the immediate setting in which he lives. When a man sees the gospel discovering for him a position in society in which he really finds himself, where he counts, it is of value, and can make a difference, then he understands the gospel promising him right standing in relationship to God.

Black America is now a "political reality," and white politicians realize that they must deal with this reality with kid gloves in many instances. In other instances this political reality suffers intimidations and oppression. This is the only language white America understands. So brothers and sisters let us speak louder and clearer at the polls.

Cal Expo To Explain Forecasting

The mysteries of scientific weather forecasting will be unraveled to interested fairgoers visiting a special display at this year's California State Fair, August 21 through September 9.

From the top of a makeshift weather tower down to the canopied exhibit tables below, a bewildering assortment of gauges, dials and instruments will provide an up-to-the-minute weather check for onlookers. In this first of a kind display at the annual event at Cal Expo.

The exhibit will feature instruments and personnel of Weathermeasure Corporation, the world's largest weather instrument company.

The display is constructed to appeal primarily to the agriculture-oriented. However, the average visitor can spend time learning about the fundamentals of modern-day weather prediction.

According to Robert Wade, a Weathermeasure executive, California's thriving agriculture and farm business depends more and more on weather instruments as they move into an age guided by electronics and the omnipresent computer.

The exhibit will be one of a variety of farm equipment displays as the fair launches its "Agriculture on the Move" program this year.

Deadlines Are Near

The last deadlines of the 1970 Monterey County Fair are almost at hand.

Currently at the final count-down are the flower growers, garden creators, farmers and orchardists, artists, craftsmen and photographers.

For gardeners and flower growers, all entries must be at the fairgrounds office by 5 p.m. on August 1.

For those who wish to enter in agriculture and horticulture classes, artists, craftsmen and photographers, the deadline is 5 p.m. on August 3.

Deadlines for all other entries in the 1970 fair have already passed.

Colts Play In Sectionals

The Seaside Colt all-star baseball team won the district championship Saturday as they completed a two game sweep of the Salinas all-stars. The team took two straight games as they won Friday, 4-0 and 7-0 the next afternoon.

The local boys now travel to the sectional playoffs in Santa Cruz. Their first game is tonight (July 30) at 6 p.m. The game will be played at Harvey West Stadium, as will their second game, to be played this Saturday.

Both of last weekend's games were won by the long ball. Tom Kraft hit a homerun in Friday's contest. That was all the local pitcher needed as he hurled a shutout.

The script was similar for the next day's game. Although Seaside scored more runs in that game than they did Friday, the only run they needed was provided by Tony Diatillo's four bagger.

NONE OTHER

Alaska is unlike any other state in the union. The state's land area is more than 570,000 square miles, yet it had only 280,000 inhabitants at the last unofficial census.

JOINS NEW CLUB - Willie Mays, who recently collected his 3000th hit, joins nine others in that select club. Hank Aaron is the only other active major leaguer to have achieved that goal.

MOVES NORTH - Airman Louie Ruiz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Ruiz Sr. of Castroville, Cal., has received his first U.S. Air Force duty assignment after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command at Malmstrom AFB, Mont.

County Needs More Buyers

The purchasing division of the Monterey County department of administrative management has a vacancy for a Buyer II or a Buyer I. Information and applications concerning the opening are available from the County Personnel Office, County Courthouse, POB 180, Salinas, CA 93901. Under supervision, a buyer performs responsible journeyman public purchasing activities, such as developing specifications for purchases, analyzing bids and recommending vendors, conferring with sales representatives, maintaining records and performing other related works as required.

A Buyer I, who earns from $615-$763 a month, is the entry level for the position. It requires graduation from high school plus four years of purchasing experience or other related experience. College training may be substituted for the experience requirement on a year-for-year basis. A Buyer II, with a salary range of $685-$851, is the journeyman level. The requirements are the same as for the entry level, except that one year purchasing experience in a public agency is also necessary.

STOPPED IT TWO WAYS - Buddy Rich, who will appear again this year, and his band not only closed out last year's Monterey Jazz Festival, but they stopped the show with their flawless performance.

Disability Law Passed

A recent law limits the amount the Veterans Administration may withhold from disability compensation checks of veterans in order to recoup their military disability severance pay. The military service makes lump-sum payments to permanently disabled veterans, whose disability is rated less than 30 percent and who have less than eight years of service. Under the new law, the amount which may be recouped by the VA from the veteran's monthly compensation check cannot exceed the amount based on the veteran's initial disability rating.

Disability compensation is based on a VA rating scale which runs from 10 to 100 percent, depending on the veteran's degree of disability.

In cases where a disability becomes more severe and is given a higher rating, the veteran is entitled to higher compensation from the administration.

Register Now For Fall Term

Monterey Peninsula College is now accepting admission materials from persons planning to attend MPC in the fall semester as fulltime students. The cutoff date for acceptance of such materials by the registrar's office is August 21. To be admitted to the college, a student must present a completed application form, which can be obtained from the school. In addition, an official transcript from the last high school and each college or university the student has attended must be submitted. Various medical cards, including a student health inventory card (supplied by MPC), an emergency care permission slip (for minors) and a verification of measles and polio immunization, are also required.

Residents of junior college districts in the state other than Monterey Peninsula must also present a release from that district, which gives them permission to register at MPC.

An English placement examination is required of all new fulltime students. Students may take the exam on August 8, 15 or 22 at 8:30 a.m. or September 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the lecture-forum room 103 on campus.

This test is also required of evening students intending to enroll in liberal arts, unless evidence of previous successful college work can be submitted.

Telephone inquiries regarding registration may be directed to 375-9821, extension 217, 210 or 211.

Seaside Men Are Honored

Two Seaside men--Army captain Don Johnson and Sfc Celesley Wilson--serving in Vietnam, have recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Johnson, whose wife Rosina still resides in Seaside, received his medal near Xuan Loc for meritorious service in connection with military operations against enemy forces while assigned as a training center advisor. Wilson earned his high honor for outstanding meritorious service as first sergeant of Headquarters Company of the 92nd engineer battalion near Long Binh.

During the same ceremony, he received the Army Commendation Medal.

MPC Awards Certificates Medical

Medical assisting certificates of achievement were recently awarded to 18 Monterey Peninsula College students. Two students also received certificates of completion at the awards dinner in Carmel.

The certificates were conferred by Mrs. Richard Eldred of the MPC board of trustees. The awards ceremony followed welcoming remarks by Mrs. Margaret Horschburg, chairman of the college's medical assisting department and an address by MPC president, Dr. George Faul.

The awards were presented to Marcia Rehmar, Esperanza Salazar and Gerda Cook of Seaside; Kathleen Dios and Cheryl Card of Salinas; Sandra Miyamoto, Anita Schlepp, Cynthia Smithback and Benilda Tongco of Pacific Grove; Cheryl Cain, Constance DiMaggio, Nancy Hilton and JoAnn Pomory of Monterey; Janice Erickson, Pamela Kelsey and Constance Peirsol of Carmel; Linda Child of Carmel Valley, and Sally Yoshida of Marina.

Seaside Ripples

torney told the chairman, Mayor Lou Haddad, that it might prejudice their case if they were allowed to discuss the situation. Haddad tried to recess the meeting but was overruled by the majority of the council. Haddad walked out and one of the council members took over the gavel and continued the meeting. Haddad returned after five minutes and the donnybrook between himself and the rest of the council then really got under way. Haddad after a few days called on all of the councilmen who opposed his views "to stand with him in a special election to reassess our qualifications before the voters." And a meeting was called for last Wednesday to take up the matter.

Naturally the rest of the council retaliated with statements too long to print but one example was by Councilman Jerry McGrath: "Haddad is angry and frustrated because the present city council is attempting to eliminate one man rule in Seaside."...So on and on ad infinitum...

The three meetings brought out the largest attendance that I have ever heard of and the remarks of the citizens with a few exceptions were constructive and to the point. Between the accusations there was heard the voice of conciliation. The exception was the slimy speech of one George Gividen, school board member who tried the time-worn technique of shouting communist and "guilt by association." I say slimy because it is like dragging the old slippery "Red Herring" through the room and leaving its stink through its wake. Gividen's attempt to link the peace organizations and their members to a communist conspiracy took us back to the old Senator McCarthy days when all that was necessary was to brand anyone that you wanted to eliminate from the scene a "red." I am really surprised and ashamed that Haddad allowed this little man to bring this sour note into what was otherwise a fairly conciliatory meeting.

However, the many good statements that came out of the meetings were too great to dwell on the bad.

Reverend Lusk told us that "Seaside is beautiful." He said that at one time or another he had voted for all five men and urged them to put aside their personal differences.

It took a fifteen year old Milvin Fortes to tell the councilmen that it "is about time all of you look in the mirror and stop fighting each other."

Mr. Hartman, a printer and newspaperman, told the council, "We do not listen to each other. Why are we so afraid of each other? We must feel some compassion for each other."

There was statement after statement like this that I think brought the council to last night's meeting with a different attitude. I think that they all did look in the mirror. I think that they all decided that what they saw wasn't pretty for Seaside. I think that the council will have its differences but I don't believe that it will ever again lead to the dangerous division that had existed before last night's meeting. The legionaire attitude has to be reconciled for the sake of peace in the community. Each group must look into the mirror such as I am sure that the council has and come up with a "Live and let live" solution, lest we all perish together.

I'll end this column with two great quotes by two great men. The first was read to the council last night by the venerable Pat Patterson... "God, give us men! a time like this demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;

Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking!

In public duty and private thinking;
For while the rabble, with their turmb-worn creeds,

Their large professions and their little deeds, mingle in selfish strife, lo, Freedom weeps,
Wrong rules the land and the waiting Justice sleeps."

After the meeting last night I saw Mayor Haddad and he gave me this final quote from Herbert Bayard Swope: "I cannot give you the formula for success--but I can give you the formula for failure: try to please everybody."

LAW IN ACTION

Scott owned a small country home on a beautifully wooded hill overlooking a small creek. When Scott built a carport next to his house, he had to fill in the creek and pave a driveway over it. He put a two-foot pipe under the driveway for the creek to run through.

But when the first heavy rain came the creek filled up. The pipe could not carry all the water. It backed up and gathered debris which clogged the pipe and caused a flood. The waters spilled over and damaged nearby homes. When the county fire department tried to dig a new ditch to relieve the clogging, a large soil mass on Scott's land tore loose and slid into his neighbor's swimming pool.

As a rule, the law favors a person who improves his land. But Scott had not acted wisely. If you block or divert the natural flow of a watercourse, you are legally liable for the resulting damage to someone else's property. If you do divert the course, you must provide a proper way to handle the waters to prevent damage. Another principle also applies to flood waters: the "common enemy" doctrine. These are waters which escape from a stream and overflow on the land. Flood waters, like fire, are the "common enemy" against which anyone may protect his property even if this injures his neighbors. But this rule applies only to flood water in highly abnormal times.

A rule of strict liability applies to the landowner who creates an abnormal, dangerous condition on his land. Suppose a landowner creates an artificial lake or stores a large amount of water in his abandoned mine. Through no fault of his, let's say, the water escapes. The law nevertheless holds him strictly liable for any damages the escaped water causes--that is, his neighbor does not have to prove he was negligent before he can collect damages.

(Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Letters to the Editor

Sir: This is in reply to Miss Mann's column in the July 22 edition of your paper. You mentioned that it seems strange that the Seaside soul bands don't get a chance to play the NCO club on Fort Ord. This goes true for ALL types of local bands, not just the soul bands. You also mentioned that there should be more soul bands playing the NCO club, on this point I beg to differ with you, as the ONLY bands that play the NCO club are SOUL and COUNTRY bands plus the "fake" rock bands that play the lounge. (Meaning they don't play real rock music, just jazzed up versions of old songs) (also it seems that the only requirement is that they have some over-endowed idiot type chick that stands in front of the group and wiggles a lot).

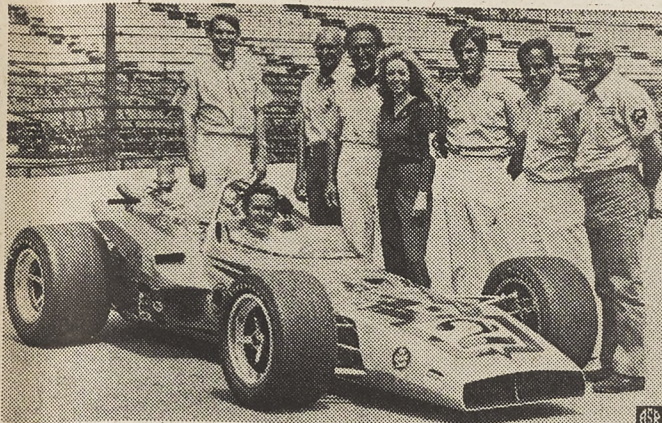

My band "Catharsis" is one of the fortunate local bands that has had the opportunity to play on the post, but it seems that those powers that be refuse to listen to the local bands when it comes to playing the larger clubs. This could come from the fact that most of our local bands should stay practicing in their respective garages instead of foisting their garbage off on to the public. There are only two decent soul bands on the peninsula, two rock bands, and one club band...the rest should be forgotten. So much for that.

As to having more soul bands play Fort Ord...how about having soul bands play at Fort Ord as often as rock bands play at Seaside High or Fremont Jr. High? That would be just as fair as you could get.

Sincerely Yours,
Dave Griffiths

Center Restraint

According to a Phillips Petroleum Company house-organ, the most misused and least understood safety feature in late model automobiles is the head restraint. "According to the Texas Safety Association," says the publication, "head restraints are not built or designed for use as pillows. They are designed to prevent the head and neck from being thrown backward during rear-end collisions, to minimize whiplash-caused injuries."

In order to do this effectively, head restraints should be adjusted so that they are centered at the back of the head, not at the neck, cautions the Phillips publication.

Slow-motion studies of rear-enders show that the head can be thrown backward in as much as a 90-degree angle, causing severe injury.

When properly adjusted, the head restraint can reduce such whiplash injuries.

A recent survey revealed that a large proportion of motorists are leaving the head restraint adjusted where it would strike the back of the

Econoline Converts To Suit a Business

No vans are built to take built-ins like Ford's Econoline.

America's best-selling van not only gives you the clear floor space you need for shelves, bins, racks and other custom components, its body sides are more nearly vertical than in other vans and wider apart at the roofline. This makes for better-fitting built-ins, giving you more room.

You may select from the smallest shelf unit to a fully equipped service interior.

You can even order complete service vehicles with highly-specialized interiors.

Econoline vans and window vans convert into attractive, functional emergency vehicles at a fraction of the cost of conventional ambulances, with room for up to four patients, plus driver and attendant. Big double-doors give easy access.

Local body companies can be found to modify Econoline Window Vans into buses to carry up to 18 pupils, for handicapped children, school teams and private schools. An Econoline school bus package which includes special seats, lights, switches and heavy-duty electrical components is available.

For the florist, a refrigeration unit and a complete insulation kit including insulation panels, fasteners, seals and floorboards, is available for converting an Econoline into an ideal florist van.

Ford Econoline Vans have the big interior room and load capacity to make wonderful camper conversions. Many plans from several manufacturers are available, including stove, water system, refrigerator, cabinets, carpeting, toilet, wardrobe, and lounge seats that convert into beds. Campers are available with lift top or fixed top to allow full stand-up headroom. They sleep up to six comfortably.

Ford dealers will help custom-design about any special interior you want in the Econoline. They will also order job-engineered, prepackaged interiors for plumbers, dry cleaners, TV servicemen and those in other trades.

Youths to Appear in Next Concert

Forrest Theater in Carmel will feature two young award winners sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society in their next concert in the current summer series.

Andres Erlich, violinist, and Patrick Wilber, pianist, will present a two-hour concert at 2 p.m. on August 2.

Canadian-born Erlich began his violin studies at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto. Settling in this area in 1967, he was immediately accepted to play in the Monterey Symphony. Since then he has appeared before many groups of music admirers on the peninsula. He recently graduated from Robert Louis Stevenson School and will enter Yale in the fall.

During this Sunday's concert, Erlich will play Vitali's Chaconne in G Minor, Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor, Opus 64 and Beethoven's Folk Dances. He will be accompanied by Daine Rabinovitch, noted piano teacher.

Wilber, only 17 years of age, began his piano studies at the age of 11 with Evelyn Templeman of Santa Cruz. Currently he is studying under William Corbett Jones of UC Santa Cruz, Sunday, for his portion of the concert, he will play Beethoven's Passionata.

Forrest Theater is located at the corner of Mountain View and Santa Rita in Carmel.

Al Capp Is Subject

Some of Capp's quotes follow: "A punk who's in college eight months tells experienced educators what to do"; "when you go to a department store you don't beat up the clerk if you don't like the merchandise, you go to another store"; "about 95 percent of the kids are perfectly decent. They don't protest by cracking dean's skulls"; "when you encourage mobs, the mobs destroy. There is no such thing as a controlled mob"; "a Harvard student who beats up the dean is just as bad as a mugger. In a poor neighborhood he is sent to jail; at Harvard he is sent to graduate school"; "Abner is the only strip treating welfare as the ludicrous spectacle it is"; "The South is the only area in the country that doesn't know it's made it"; (speaking of some educators) "police have to protect them from the very hyenas they themselves created."

Cartoonist Al Capp, who has become a controversial lecturer on the college circuit, will be profiled and analyzed by his admirers and detractors in "This Is Al Capp," which will be colorcast on "NBC Experiment in Television" Sunday, March 1 at 5 p.m.

Capp, creator of "Li'l Abner," popular cartoon strip, has become a serious critic of young people's behavior, especially in the colleges. His blunt remarks about them have angered liberal circles and delighted the conservatives.

Capp gives scores of lectures a year at colleges for what he describes as high fees. "I'm the most expensive speaker on the college circuit," he says.

Anti-Busing Bill May Not Prove Valid

According to the State Legislative Counsel's office in Sacramento, there is a distinct possibility that the bill prohibiting busing of schoolchildren without parental consent--which is now in the Senate Education Committee--will be declared unconstitutional.

The bill was recently passed by the State Assembly.

According to legislative counsel George H. Murphy, the measure would be deemed unconstitutional if the Supreme Court followed the same thinking as that which resulted in the 1963 Pasadena Decision, that:

"The right to an equal opportunity for education and the harmful consequences of segregation require that school boards take steps, insofar as reasonably feasible, to alleviate the racial imbalance in schools, regardless of its cause."

Murphy feels that the court might therefore find that the anti-busing bill "prevents a school district from effectively taking reasonable feasible steps to alleviate racial imbalance in the school district and thus violates the equal protection clause."

Aluminum Drive Opens

Two aluminum collection depots have been set up locally by the Sierra Club Youth Group. Residents who have been saving aluminum cans, containers or foil may drop their collections at Monterey Peninsula College or Carmel High School.

The MPC bin is located at the corner just outside the parking lot across from the student union building. This depot is co-sponsored by the college Environment Action Club.

The Carmel High bin is on an island in the administration building parking area. Members of the youth group make regular pickups at both points. Money raised in the aluminum drive will be used by the organization to make a 16 mm film on coastal conservation.

Jack Holmgren, coordinator of the aluminum drive, hopes that people contributing cans remember two things. The cans must have seamless sides and smooth, rounded bottoms and they should be crushed to save space.

Local Men Stationed Overseas

Two peninsula men are now serving the Air Force in Thailand. Airman First Class Donald Wells and Sergeant James Stewart are stationed at separate bases in that Asian country.

Wells, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lora Wells of King City is on duty at Korat Royal Thai AFB. He is an engine mechanic with the 553rd Field Maintenance Squadron, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and the Pacific area.

Stewart, who is the son of retired US Army Sergeant and Mrs. Harry Stewart of Salinas, is on duty with the 307th Strategic Wing at U-Tapao Airfield. A Strategic Air Command aircraft mechanic, he supports B-52 Stratofortress bombers which daily attack Viet Cong targets and KC-135 Stratotankers which provide refueling to fighter, bomber and reconnaissance aircraft.

Blacks End Their Strike In Jackson

Black municipal workers of Jackson, Mississippi, called off their strike last Thursday and returned to work Monday.

They had failed to win union recognition or a wage increase, which were their objectives in walking off the job on June 29.

The strikers numbered about 750. They represented about a third of the municipal work-force of Jackson.

Most of the blacks get $1.70 an hour and few receive take-home pay of more than $50 a week.

The decision to return to work was taken at a meeting attended by barely a fifth of the membership and many of those present declared they had been "sold out."

Robert Thomas, their business representative, said that the local had asked for help from the international more than eight months ago, but had received no answer.

Ra Makes Barbados

Proving that the Egyptians could have discovered America 4,000 years ago through the use of a papyrus boat similar to his, explorer-author Thor Heyerdahl and his seven-man crew of the Ra II have finally reached the Barbados, after two months at sea.

During their transatlantic crossing, Heyerdahl's papyrus craft became severely waterlogged. It left the port of Safi in Morocco on May 17 and traveled 3,200 miles with power. Enroute, it absorbed 25 tons of water.

Heyerdahl's first attempt to make the trip, in Ra I, ended in near-disaster some 600 miles short of his goal, when the craft broke up in high seas.

Linkletter Writes on Drug Scene

Art Linkletter, for 35 years the cordial emcee of radio and television, turns totally serious as a writer on the drug menace among youth in the February issue of Reader's Digest.

The article is sub-titled, "A famous father speaks from tragic personal experience about a problem that threatens every family."

The tragic experience refers to the Linkletters' recent loss of their youngest daughter, Diane, as the aftermath of a bad trip on LSD.

Linkletter writes that what happened in his family can happen in anyone's. Drug arrests among youth, he says, have increased 2,000 percent between 1960 and 1968.

Auditors to Be Hired

Applications for the position of Auditor-Appraiser I and Auditor-Appraiser II are being accepted at the County Personnel office until Friday, August 7. The necessary forms for the position are available from that same office which is located in the County Courthouse, POB 180, Salinas, CA 93901.

The position of auditor-appraiser II, which has a salary range of $785-$976 a month, is open to anyone with one year experience as an auditor-appraiser and who has a valid appraiser's certificate issued by the California State Board of Equalization.

An auditor-appraiser I, with salary range of $685-$851 a month, is a trainee position open to a person who has been graduated from a recognized four year college with a major in accounting. The job is also open to anyone who is licensed as an accountant in California or who is eligible on a county or state civil service list for accountant or auditor.

Boycott By Is Opposed

Playwright Athol Fogard, South Africa's outstanding playwright, has come out against the current boycotting of his country by the theater world. Fogard is a Caucasian.

He believes firmly that South Africa cannot change for the better without a free exchange of ideas and feels that nothing is achieved by the boycott except the cutting off of ideas from the outside, which are sorely needed by South Africa.

"Edward Albee, Arthur Miller, Harold Pinter and others, who are boycotting South Africa, are keeping their own ideas out of South Africa--and that is doing the censor's job," declared Fogard.

"I understand their motives, but by keeping their plays out, they are doing nothing to improve the quality of living here," said the eminent writer.

He made his statements during a University of Natal conference on "Communication in Action."

Riles Blames observations His Opponent

Wilson C. Riles, black candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, announced in Los Angeles, July 22, that his incumbent opponent, Dr. Max Rafferty, has asked for--and received--state matching funds to be paired with a federal program that did not exist.

In a speech at the University of Southern California, Riles said the "deception" was finally detected by Legislative committees this year.

The money involved approximately $45,000 in state funds each year for the fiscal years 1967-1970.

Originally tied to a federal-state 50-50 matching program to improve statistical services in state departments of education under Title X of the National Defense Education Act, the program was terminated by Washington in 1967.

But the request for state matching funds continued to show up in the Department of Education's budget application to the Legislature until it was caught this year.

And loyal members of commissions such as the Human Relations Commission, might have a few good words. They have been trying to get messages across to the Old Council for years without success.

At this point, I can't think of anything sage to say to the Mayor. Perhaps, "Stop Hogging the Headlines." But the young have a good one, which may become sage some day--"COOL IT."

$50 Towing

It costs $75 to park a car illegally in New York--$25 for a parking summons and another $50 to redeem the car.

City officials raised the redemption fee from $25 to $50 June 1 in the hope that traffic congestion would be eased if fewer cars were parked illegally and had to be towed away.

"For that kind of dough," said a police department spokesman, "more people should be getting the message."

However, the decrease was minimal--from 2,350 cars a week when the fee was $25 to 2,200 cars a week when the fee was doubled.

Grooving Around The Peninsula with Betty Mann

Hi There Fellow Peninsulans:

Happenings last week included: weddings, births, school programs and "hot" council meetings. On July 14th Mrs. Mae Johnson, of Monterey became the bride of Sgt. Henry Singleton, of Ft. Ord. The couple were united in marriage in a chapel ceremony, in San Francisco, with Mrs. Jerri Armstrong, and Mr. & Mrs. Lou Powell, all of Seaside, in attendance, as witnesses. On Sunday evening July 19th, a gala wedding reception was held honoring the bride and groom in the beautiful home of Mr. & Mrs. Lou Powell, on La Salle Ave, Seaside, over 75 guests were present, to extend their congrat's to the beautiful couple. The bride is a counselor at King Jr. High, in Seaside. Both the bride & groom are native Georgians. X X X X X X X In another wedding on the peninsula, Miss Gloria Foster, on July 18th in a 2 p.m. ceremony that was held at Ft. Ord's Main Post chapel. Chaplain Linpkamin performed the nuptial vows. Gloria was given away in marriage by her stepfather Mr. Billy Allen. Gloria is the daughter of Mrs. Guanita Allen, of Seaside, John is the son of Sfc and Mrs. Lloyd Foster of Seaside. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Annanice Felix, of Seaside. The brides attendants were Miss Brenda Booker, maid of honor, and sister of the bride, Miss Clarise Beene & Miss Mary Green, served as bridesmaids. The groom's attendants were: Mr. Quentin Foster, best man and brother of the groom, Mr. Robert Gilliam and Mr. Brad Knight, served as groomsmen. Ushers were Gary & Michael Booker and William Foster. Flower girls were: Shawntay Bevels and Robin Booker; ring bearers were: Cedric and Eric Campbell. The brides gown was fashioned with a bodice of Alencon lace, with the full "A" line skirt, of tissue silk & Peau De Soie; her headpiece was a circle of seed pearls that held a full length veil and extended into a chapel length train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids wore canary yellow gowns that were fashioned along the same lines as the brides gown. They were matching yellow headpieces. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Main NCO club, at Ft. Ord. The bride is a graduate of Monterey High & attended M.P.C. She is now employed as a secretary, with the Legal Aid Society. The groom is a graduate of Seaside High, and attended M.P.C. He is employed with Western Electric, San Jose. After a honeymoon in Santa Cruz, the bride and groom are making their home in Seaside. X X X X X X X X And now for the most exciting birth on the peninsula last week. Mr. & Mrs. Nazarene Aaron, of Seaside, welcomed a 8 pound baby daughter who was named Angela Felice. Angela is the only female child of the Aarons. She joins a family of 8 boys. I'm sure she was most happily welcomed into this family of 9 males and 1 female. (smile) and I'm sure Angela's nickname will most certainly be "Angel" X X X X X X X Other exciting events around the peninsula included the summer school program that was held on Wed nite at Noche Buena. On that nite a Spaghetti dinner was the first event of the evening. Over 200 persons dined on a delicious dinner of spaghetti, salad, french bread, "Apple Brown Betty" (smiles) & etc. After dinner there was an open house, with the community aides & high school aides, acting as hosts. At 8 p.m. a spectacular variety show, was held with the young school students performing A vaudeville show, Hawaiian dance, Drill team (consisting of 2nd and 3rd graders), Piano Solo, Filipino dance (performed by 2 very talented lovely girls) witches & dolls play (performed by some cute authentic looking witches). Originators and coordinators of this program were Chicquita Ector, Maurice Mann Jr., & Maurya Mann, who are teachers with this summer program. Mrs. Pauline McDaniels, is the director of aides, of this entire summer program, of which was sponsored by Mrs. Charlie Knight, under the auspices of the E.S.E.A. act of 1965 provided by the federal govt. Mr. Wayne Buck, is principal of the school. Dr. Henry Hutchins, was instrumental, in providing help from the community school counselors, with this program. There are 33 Junior Aides, and 22 adult community helpers employed with this educational program. After the amusing program that was presented by the children was finished, Chicquita Ector and the aides presented Mrs. Charlie Knight with a presentation bouquet of red roses and champagne. Mrs. Pauline McDaniels was presented with flowers and champagne. Mr. Wayne Buck with a gift and champagne, and Mrs. Sarah Ector, with the same above mentioned. X X X X X X X Other excitement still moving around on the Peninsula were: WOW! the cars that were lined up 3 blocks long around City Hall, on Wednesday nite. A person would have thought the mayor was giving his inauguration speech (smile) Boy! were tempers ever blazing and the members of the council, seemed to be sitting at the council table looking as if they were loved by it all. The young man of 15 yrs old spoke the most sense. He said that, "The council & the people were acting like we kids do at school!" Here are a few excerpts from the meeting. One lady stated that "she didn't blame black folks because they were 'black'" WOW! What a laugh from the audience she got. (As if a person can choose what color he wishes) smiles! Appraisers Are Needed

Monterey County has openings for the position of Appraiser I and Appraiser II. Application forms for the positions are available at the County Personnel Office, County Courthouse, POB 180, Salinas, CA 93901. The forms will be accepted until August 7.

Under direction, an appraiser II collects and analyzes data for the appraisal of residential and commercial property for tax purposes. He also makes field investigations, prepares reports, explains assessment procedures and performs other related work.

Qualification for this job, which has a starting salary of $723 per month include possession of a valid certificate as an appraiser issued by the state board of equalization, or eligibility for such a certificate and two years of current appraisal experience with a county or state agency.

Appraiser I is the trainee level of public appraising, which leads to promotion to level II after at least one year of successful experience and passage of the state exams for certification as an appraiser.

To qualify for this position, graduation from a recognized four year college or university, or four years experience in public or private real estate appraisal (or a related field) is required. An equivalent combination of education and experience is also acceptable.

Mayor Haddad for stating on the radio that "he should be considered ineligible to serve on a particular committee because he was a welfare recipient." What a blow that must have been to the people who are on Welfare, "especially coming from the Mayor"!

Another man stated he was tired of people stating that people who wore long hair, beards & sandals, were hippies. He stated that the bible states Jesus wore long hair, a beard and sandals and he was no hippie or Yippie." (This is true.) after hearing that light industry was coming to Seaside, this was good news out of this meeting. After sitting until 10:30 p.m., on leaving the hall, there lo & behold! was a Seaside ambulance, waiting to take an elderly lady, home or to the hospital. (could this have resulted from the excitement inside?) X X X X X X X X X X Let me share this tidbit, with you readers: The Elks and their Grand Exalted Ruler, are to be congratulated for providing us a fine example of Americanism and Patriotism. After chastizing American youth as a bunch of brats who think they know better than their parents how to run this country, the Elks by reaffirming their racist membership policies have shown that youth does know better than their parents (if their parents are Elks) what Americanism is. By waving the flag and then denying the basic ideal of human dignity and equality that this nation was founded upon. The Elks have shown us the color of their patriotism. It is their kind of bigotry and hypocrisy that has created this Generation Gap. Let's hope that this generation of White Elks will be the last.

Who Cares in Seaside

By Mel Vercoe

Before we try too hard to achieve complete harmony--as in Seaside City Council meetings--let us weigh the pros and cons.

If everything goes along smoothly, what do we have? We have a citizenry quite content to let somebody else, anybody, somehow, take care of all the messy little details of running a city, because after all that is what they are getting paid for, and we vaguely recall they were elected or hired to do this, and besides, we have TV that must be watched, and beer that helps to take the edge off of some of the less desirable programs.

But then something happens--a real honest to goodness human interest item, like an elderly couple being evicted from their home, or maybe a question of somebody's Constitutional rights being violated--then we leave the beer and the TV sets and go down to the City Hall and at long last actually practice democracy.

And maybe for the first time we find out how many people are on the City Council and who they are and what they look like, and we see the Mayor in real life. And all of a sudden we are back in history almost two hundred years to the time of the town hall meetings, when our country was growing and was strong because our people were interested in what happened to it, and were willing to walk miles to help shape its future.

This is true democracy--when people who never before felt they were represented finally get a chance to voice their opinions publicly in the presence of officials authorized to make decisions affecting them.

The July 5 parade misunderstanding was unfortunate, and a little of the fault can be found in almost any direction you wish to look, but maybe it was one of the best things that ever happened to Seaside.

Of the many things America desperately needs, one is a better national pastime than watching TV, and another is more genuine individual concern about what lies ahead for our country and this takes in a lot of territory.

And even if politics just doesn't happen to be your bag of tea, there isn't a show playing anyplace, TV included, that could match the last two Seaside City Council meetings for pure entertainment. For example, the Mayor's observation that Phyllis Diller might not be California's best choice in the new minister who suggested that what Seaside really needs is a good old fashioned revival meeting, and then casually mentioned that he is going to conduct some in Seaside in about two weeks.

As I see it, maybe a few problems are preferable to no problems, if the problems can get people together for meaningful dialogue away from their boob tubes, and if the problems can create more interest in such things as government processes and human rights.

Funds Urged By NAACP

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People recently endorsed President Nixon's proposal for a Federal fund of $1.5 billion to aid school desegregation.

Tom Jones Headlines City Show

Friday, July 31, Welsh singing star Tom Jones will appear at the San Francisco Cow Palace. The show, which begins at 8 p.m., also headlines Count Basie and his orchestra, Gladys Knight and the Pips and Norm Crosby.

Jones, star of his own weekly television variety show, recently finished a standing-room-only engagement in Las Vegas.

The pop singer has had a string of hits in America and has become the heart throb of a number of American women.

Count Basie and his orchestra is one of the world's best known and loved bands. They have been highly acclaimed by jazz critics the world over for many years.

Gladys Knight and the Pips, one of the nation's leading rhythm and blues groups, are best known for their version of "I Heard It Through The Grapevine."

Crosby, a leading comedian, has appeared on all the major variety shows.

Tickets, which range from $5 to $15 for this reserve seat show, may be purchased at the Cow Palace Box Office or at Macy's Department Stores.

Greek Week Activities

The remainder of the Greek Week activities in the Monterey Peninsula are as follows: Thursday, July 30, from 1-5 p.m. there will be a presentation of Greek folk music at Outdoors Coffee Shop in Custom House Plaza. At 8 p.m. that night there is a Greek film at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies Hall.

"The Greek Symposium"--a gala dinner of traditional barbeque lamb with Greek Entertainment will be held Friday, July 31 at 7:30 p.m. at the Elk's Club of Monterey.

Saturday, August 1, is the last day of Greek Week. Activities will be at the Outdoors Greek Tavern at Customs House Plaza from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m.

Tickets for various events may be obtained from the Greek or Italian Department at the Presidio of Monterey, or at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies or at George Dovolits Real Estate Office, Alvarado Street in Monterey.

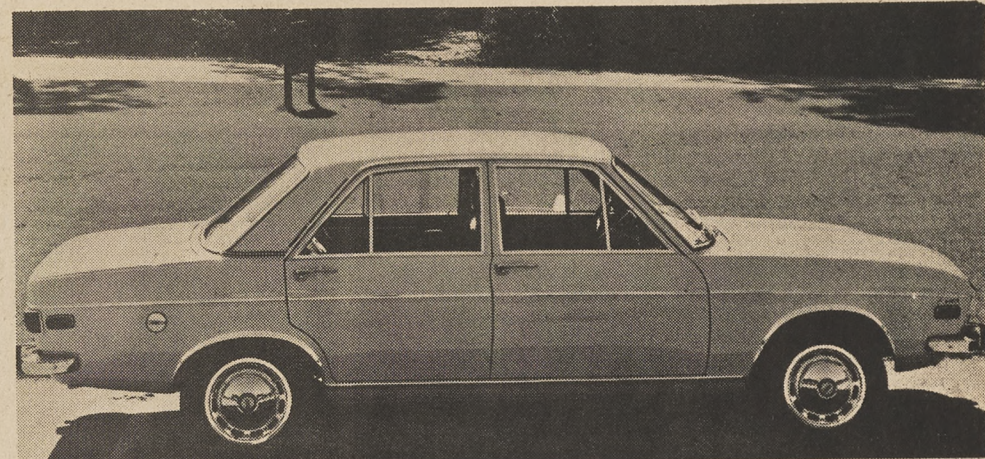

Federal Action Is Requested

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People last week called for federal intervention to restore peace in New Bedford, which for a week has been embroiled in racial strife.

In a telegram to United States Attorney General John N. Mitchell, with a copy to Massachusetts Governor Francis Sargent, William Carmo, president of the New Bedford Branch of the NAACP, and Jerry M. Guess, the Association's field director for New York-New England, asked for action to step "extreme acts" in that city.

The full text of the telegram, dispatched July 14, follows:

"Public officials and the police are flagrantly violating the rights of black residents of the city of New Bedford, Massachusetts. It is urgent that the Justice Department intervene to stop these extreme acts. Fear that failure to do so would result in the intensification of bitterness in the black community with results too awesome to forecast. We shall await your response to this plea."

NEW TO U.S. - There are three new Audi models--100 LS sedan, smaller Super 90 sedan and station wagons. These cars, which combine old world craftsmanship with modern technical know-how, are being sold with Porsche sports cars at newly-established network of Porsche Audi dealers, including Wester Motors of Monterey.

Voucher Plan Is Opposed

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has gone on record in opposition to the proposed school voucher plan which would provide direct tuition aid to the individual student to enable him to enter the school of his choice, public or private.

The NAACP position, embodied in a resolution adopted of the Association's 61st annual convention in Cincinnati, earlier this month, opposes "any plan of this type inasmuch as the result would be the perpetuation of segregation in schools."

The NAACP took this position "despite general assurances that the plan would include 'safe-guards' to prevent its use to further segregation."

The plan, originated at the Harvard Graduate School of Education three years ago, is now under consideration by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Under this plan, vouchers in the form of financial grants would be made directly to low-income families who could then assign them to the school they selected for their children. Federal and, possibly, other public funds would be made available for this purpose.

Representatives of civil rights organizations were invited to Harvard in 1967 for a preview of the proposal. Miss June Shagaloff, NAACP education director, who was among those who attended that session reports that the civil rights representatives were all hostile to the idea.

Since that time the American Federation of Teachers, the American Jewish Congress and other groups have reacted unfavorably to the proposal.

In an editorial, June 8, THE NEW YORK TIMES warned of the danger "that the vouchers could become instruments of white segregation or black separatism."

The NAACP convention also adopted a resolution calling upon its local units throughout the nation "to monitor the opening of schools in September focusing on: (1) ineffective or token desegregation plans; (2) discrimination and/or segregation within newly desegregated schools and (3) replacement of Negro teachers and administrators with white personnel."

It called upon all NAACP units to oppose, through new community and legal actions, these and any similar school practices.

PLAYBOY ACCEPTS SILICONE

Hugh Hefner, publisher of Playboy, reported that it was only recently that the magazine accepted for its centerfold portrait models who had had silicone treatments. "It's now part of life," said Hefner. "Like a nose job."

The President's request to Congress came eight days after his conference with Wilkins in the White House. The proposal was among issues the President and the NAACP leader discussed last month.

Ice Follies Feature Beauty

Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, currently appearing in San Francisco at their summer home, Winterland, through September 6, features the beautiful and talented Jill Shipstad, daughter of co-founder Roy Shipstad.

Billed as the "Sweetheart of the Ice," a title Miss Shipstad's mother, Bess Erhardt, once held, she performs her skating routine to such songs as "Sunny" and "Goin' Out of My Head."

In addition to Miss Shipstad, there are many other exciting skaters. United States Olympic representatives, Ron and Cindy Kauffman, Richard Dwyer, comedians Biddy and Baddy and adagio experts Rika and Lucien Boyer appear nightly. Also appearing is a chorus line of 50 young ladies.

Wildlife Department Moves

July 27 was moving day for Department of Fish and Game operations in the Monterey area.

DFG law enforcement, inland fisheries and wildlife management and marine statistics personnel which were headquartered for several years at 575 Calle Principal in Monterey has moved to new offices at 2201 Garden Road. The new offices are in the State Division of Forestry Building near the Monterey Airport.

Also moving to the new address will be personnel of the Department's Marine Resources Region. Marine Resources biologists who are engaged in studying bottom fish and pelagic fish will move to the new location from offices at Hopkins Marine Station and personnel studying sportfishing in Monterey Bay will move from offices in Cannery Row to the new headquarters.

Biologists involved in the sea otter studies, previously

Unruh Gets Star Support

Academy award nominee Dustin Hoffman and television star Diahann Carroll are the newest personalities to give their support to the "Entertainment and Communications Committee to Elect Jess Unruh."

Miss Carroll, star of the "Julia" series, said in making her Unruh endorsement: "There's absolutely no question as to whom I will support. At this time in history, it's urgent and mandatory that we elect a man who stands for progress, Jess does."

Their support follows that of comedian Pat Paulson, who recently endorsed Unruh.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Shirley MacLaine, Bill Cosby, Trini Lopez, Robert Wise and Gene Kelly.

Trip to Chinatown

Charles Lee, chairman of the Seaside City Bicentennial Board and Seaside Art Commission, is planning an art field trip to San Francisco's Chinatown. The trip is tentatively scheduled for Friday, August 7.

Art lovers in the peninsula area will be taken by chartered bus to study the Avery Brundage Collection of Oriental Art in deYoung Museum, to visit the Japanese Tea Garden, Chinese Historical Society, Ching Wah Lee Studio and to have a Chinese dinner at a famous Chinatown restaurant.

Since the Chinese have contributed so much to California's 200 years of history, Lee, a former professor of Chinese at DLI, felt that more people in this area should know a bit more about their art, culture and early history.

Reservations for the trip should be made with Lee at 394-2965.

headquartered in the Department's Marine Resources Laboratory in Menlo Park, will be shifted to the new Monterey office.

The Department's marine culture studies had previously been transferred from Cannery Row to a new laboratory south of Monterey on Highway 1 at Granite Canyon. This is a new installation which will be devoted to experiments in rearing marine organisms.

CAST MEMBERS - Tom Targownis (left), Dale Diggs and Jerilyn Jorgenson are presently appearing in "Oh, What a Lovely War" on Cannery Row. (See story)

Cadet Returns From Training

George J. Blum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Blum, 101 New Guinea Road, Fort Ord, has recently returned from Fort Lewis, Washington.

Blum, a student at San Jose State College, was undergoing six weeks practical application in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps' advanced summer camp there.

He is one of approximately 17,000 men expected to attend ROTC advanced camps throughout the nation.

Scooters Are For Sale

The General Services Administration has announced that 100 post office three-wheel motor scooters are now being offered for sale to the general public on an individual basis.

The three-wheelers are located at Personal Property Center, 1150 San Mateo Avenue, South San Francisco. They are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis at fixed prices based upon individual condition. All sales are final in this "as is" sale. They are to be sold daily Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., until the entire stock is exhausted. Complete information is available at the GSA Sales Office in San Francisco at (415) 556-3175.

Observations

By Adeline DiLorenzo

"Mayor Asks Showdown in Seaside" are the headlines in the daily paper to the South. It seems that Mayor Haddad suggests "in the best interest of our community that we call for a special election and volunteer to stand for re-election." The article quotes the Mayor, "I sincerely believe that the people of our city would like the opportunity to reassess our qualifications and I believe we owe them this consideration."

Do you suppose if George Wallace had won his presidential bid that he would have had to ask his Congress to stand up for reelection, since he would definitely have been a minority President? This must be a new method of gaining control. Now take President Nixon. He made two appointments to the Supreme Court and his men were rejected. He certainly didn't ask the Congress to stand up for re-election. He just appointed a third acceptable judge.

Mayor Haddad was reelected as against Councilman Stephen Ross, but all that the election proved was that the citizenry wanted a change when they ousted former councilmen and replaced them with Councilwoman Pearl Carey and Councilman Gerald McGrath. They indicated a change was needed, but weren't quite ready for a black mayor.

Stands to reason that the mayor now must learn to operate with the Council that was also elected by some of the same voters he claims.

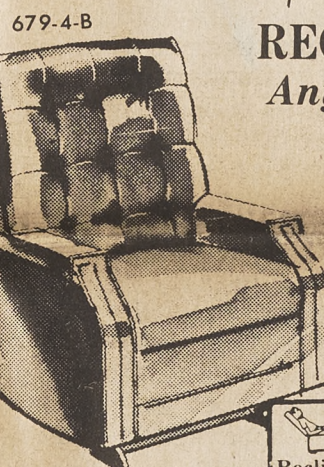

But is the Mayor really trying to keep harmony? He can't be when he is insisting on blaming the new council for 10 percent tax increase in its first months. The blame lies in the

Nurses Wanted For Hospital

Registered nurses are needed at the General Hospital of Monterey County in Salinas. Applications for the position which has a salary range of $723-806 per month, may be obtained from the Personnel Office of the County of Monterey. The office is located in the County Court-house, POB 180, Salinas, CA 93901.

There is a wide latitude of assignments, days and hours of work available including part-time at the hospital which is located on Natividad Road in North Salinas.

Employment selection will be based on the applicants' qualifications. Registration as a nurse in the state is necessary. Arrangements will be made for a personal interview or other evaluation for those persons who are best qualified.

General Hospital also has a need for Licensed Vocational Nurses. Applications for the position, which has a salary range of $458-$568 a month, are also available at the Personnel Office, County of Monterey.

This position, too, has a wide latitude of assignments, days and hours available including part-time.

The vocational nurses are expected to provide important phases of nursing care as well as supervise non-professional nursing personnel.

OTHELLO - Acting sensation of current American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Connecticut, is heroic actor Moses Gunn (left) in spectacular version of "Othello." Gunn, shown here with Lee Richardson as Iago, has impressive credits, was halfway through master's thesis and teaching when "acting itch" first attracted him.

GENIUS IN TRIPLICATE - Eddie Holland, Lamont Dozier and Brian Holland, a successful song writing and producing team, have extended their talent abilities to formation of their own record company. They wrote songs for original Supremes which grossed seven consecutive million-selling records. Beatles are among artists recording their tunes. Two Hollands are brothers.

Describes Food Plans

"How much does a nutritionally adequate diet cost?" is a question asked more and more frequently as food assistance and welfare programs are expanded, a U.S. Department of Agriculture food scientist said recently.

The answer, she said, is provided in food plans developed by USDA for use as standards by public and private assistance organizations in setting money allowances for food. The kinds and amounts of foods in these plans are also used in helping families to select nutritionally adequate diets that they can afford.

Dr. Faith Clark of USDA's Agricultural Research Service described these plans to members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting in Boston.

The ARS scientist also indicated that a good diet depends on many factors other than income and good prices. One of the most important is the ability of the homemaker to select the right foods. Because liberal spending alone does not guarantee a good diet, Dr. Clark said some families at all income levels need guidance in food selection.

TOTAL THEATER

Frank Zappa, one of rock music's most creative and controversial talents, has been experimenting with various musical styles since 1965. With his original band, The Mothers of Invention, he formulated a satirical "total theater" presentation "which used rock music to make an artistic statement."

Nutrition Handbook Is Free

People who like people -- and especially those who like children -- will be interested in the new "Handbook for Volunteers in the Child Nutrition Programs," FNS-10, issued by the Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

The 20-page, photo illustrated booklet suggests ways in which volunteer workers may help establish or improve a food service program for children in their communities.

Included are suggested ways a volunteer can work with and stimulate interest among community groups.

The publication suggests ways to start a volunteer program, some jobs that may lend themselves to volunteer work, and key people to contact in the food service programs.

The new handbook gives a brief description of each USDA child nutrition program and lists the address of the Food and Nutrition Regional Offices.

Copies of "Handbook for Volunteers in the Child Nutrition Programs," FNS-10, are free from the Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The new publication outlines: "Your Role as a Volunteer," "Parent and Community Support," "Funds and Facilities," "Direct Help," "Student Participation," and "Special Help for Out-of-School Programs."

Each section includes examples of volunteer activities in different parts of the country.

The booklet is the third in a series. The other two, Handbook for Volunteers in the

Complete Millionth Corolla

The one millionth Toyota Corolla rolled off the assembly lines recently at Toyota's giant plant in Japan.

In February, the two millionth Corona model rolled off the assembly lines at Toyota's Motomachi plant.

Toyota achieved the one millionth Corolla target within three years and five months after the series went into production in September, 1966.

The Corolla was introduced to the U.S. imported automobile market in August, 1968.

Marketed initially in the domestic Japanese market in October, 1966, the Corolla series quickly became the best-selling passenger car model-along with the Corona-in Japan.

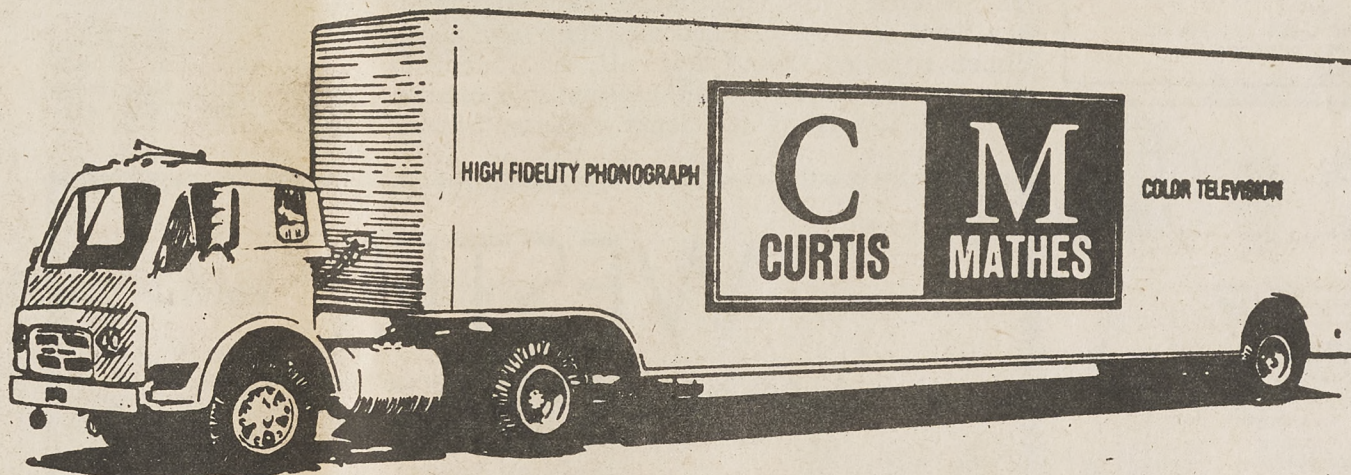

The first Corolla model was the 2-door sedan. Due to the success of the Corolla in Japan, Toyota began expanding the line to the 4-door sedan-van, the Sprinter sports coupe and the deluxe 2-door line.

Current monthly production of the Corolla ranks even (50,000) with Toyota's perennial sales champion, the Corona model line.

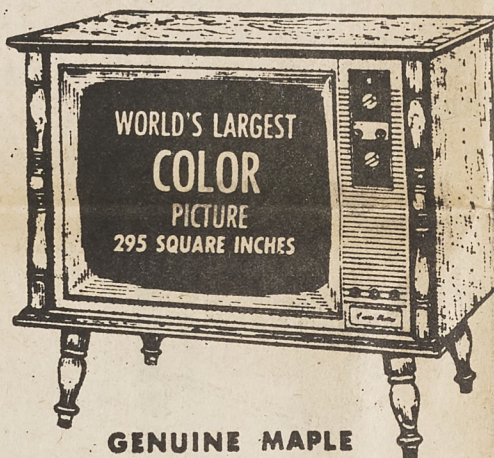

The two Toyota model lines -Corolla and Corona-continues to battle for first place in Japan's domestic sales.

Missouri Blacks Are Accused of Murder In Politico's Death

First-degree murder has been charged to two black men, Reginald Watson, 18, and Carleton E. Miller, 36, both of Kansas City, Missouri, in the gunshot death of Missouri State Representative Leon M. Jordan.

Jordan, also a Negro, was shot outside his tavern on the morning of July 15. He was 65.

A police spokesman has revealed that a third person is being held on suspicion of having a connection with the shooting.

The spokesman said that Jordan had been struck by three blasts from a shotgun fired at close range, shortly after he emerged from his bar, the Green Duck Tavern. His political headquarters was nextdoor and his car was parked nearby.

Jordan was elected to the Missouri House of Representatives in 1964 and reelected twice since that time. This year, he was again a candidate.

Missouri law provides that in the event of a candidate's death before a primary, the filing list can be reopened. Until Jordan's death, the only other entrant in the race had been a 25-year-old black who is said to be a militant.

His Word

Is Charged With Bias

The first time cowboy-artist Charles Russell saw bathing girls, on a beach in California, his comment was: "They weren't wearing enough clothes to pad a crutch."

Exchange

With Bias

A new target of charges of discriminatory hiring is the New York Stock Exchange. Earlier this week, the New York State Human Rights Commission ordered the exchange to recruit more minority workers. The commission claims that the exchange discriminated by turning down Collin Stephan, a black stenographic reporter, because of his race and color. Stephan applied for a job paying $11,000 a year.

Human Rights Commissioner Robert J. Mangum has ordered the exchange to submit periodic reports of its efforts to hire minority-group members for the next two years, and to pay damages of $500.

Councilwoman Pearl Carey's insistence that people be shown consideration and the exercise of good manners as she indicated in the meeting in which the burglar alarm contract was awarded?

Councilman McGrath's insistence that ALL persons coming before the Council be properly heard without constant interruptions and dismissals by Mayor Haddad?

Councilman Stephen Ross' struggle for a city Human Relations Coordinator?

Councilman Oliver Murray's constant conciliatory position attempting to keep equilibrium?

The Mayor may will draw a crowd who will praise the progress of Seaside. And some progress it has made, but would it seem funny if it hadn't. The federal government has poured some $25 million into a city that has never had 25,000 population in the last ten years.

People have the right to be heard. That means all people, including the Mayor's supporters. Wouldn't his supporters be indignant if they went to City Hall and the other four councilmen rejected them? After all, the Council is representing all the people not just supporters. We have too many residents who don't vote.

The Mayor's observations: "We appear to be headed down the road to regression. Our constituents are ashamed, city employees are insecure. Nothing is being accomplished constructively. Loyal members of our commissions, dedicated to Seaside's progress are deeply concerned. I have reason to believe that our constituents are quite unhappy with us."

I might at this point add, for such utterances, "So should his Council."

These are strictly "no-noes" in today's world. How can the rest of the Councilmen go along with such statements from a mayor? If each councilman demanded equal time in the daily newspaper to the south, wouldn't it be interesting what one could find out about Seaside?

For instance, some constituents might say, "The Yoke has been lifted, and we are proud at last." We might find that it never crossed the city employees' minds to be insecure. A lot of constituents would like to be in their shoes.

Mays Joins '3,000 Club'

Saturday, July 18, was a memorable day in the life of Willie Mays, and in the lives of some 29,000 onlookers at Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

Saturday was the great day when Willie Mays connected with pitcher Mike Wegener's low slider, in the second inning, with two out and nobody on, with two strikes against him. Mays hit to left field and made it to first base and the crowd went wild.

The reason? It was Mays' 3,000th hit of his career! Carl Hubbell, Stan Musial and National League President Chub Feeney were on hand to congratulate Mays in a short ceremony off first-base line.

So was the former Giants outfielder Monte Irvin, a Negro, who is from the office of baseball's commissioner, Bowie Kuhn.

Mays' teammates had a difficult time reaching the great one to offer congratulations, surrounded as he was by news reporters and cameramen.

Then the game resumed and on Willie McCovey's double, Mays turned his memorable hit into a run.

In the sixth inning, hit a line drive into center field, to start his climb toward Hit Number 4,000.

Mays' first big-league hit was on May 28, 1951, off the Braves' Warren Spahn. Mays was a New York Giant then and the scene was the Polo Grounds. The hit was a home run.

Following Saturday's game, a reporter asked Mays what his goal is now.

"All I want to do is stay healthy and keep playing," replied the Giant among Giants.

With hit number 3000, Mays joins his sport's most exclusive club.

In the 101-year history of baseball, "Wonderful Willie" is only the tenth player to gain entrance. He joins Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves in that select circle. Aaron reached the milestone earlier this season.

Although Mays was only 73 hits away from the 3000 mark at the start of this season speculation was that he would not get the 3000th until near the end of the season, if at all in 1970.

In April, before opening day, he was regarded by many as a "tired old man." No longer is that the case. He has shown that there is still some playing time left in his 39-year-old body, which usually looks to be no more than 25. Instead Mays is now the "revitalized superstar."

All that he has done to change his image is hit 20 home runs (seven more than he hit in all of 1969); raised his batting average appreciably despite being in an extended slump; run the bases with the wild abandon of the "Say Hey Kid"; and fielded like the Mays of 10 years ago.

Naturally, the "Say Hey" image is gone and has been for some time, but the enthusiasm for the game is still there. If it were not he would have retired some years ago.

Mays' career, which has spanned two full decades, is one of color and pageantry. He was the darling of the New York Giants and their fans before the club moved to San Francisco in 1968. Immediately, he assumed that role in his new home city.

He led the NY Giants to two National League pennants and in 1962 did the same for San Francisco.

Mays has gathered more records, awards and accolades than any other baseball player in history. He has hit more home runs than anyone, save Babe Ruth. He is only the second man to hit 600 round trippers, has scored more runs by far than any other player and is the first man to have hit more than 300 homeruns and steal more than 300 bases.

For these achievements among many others, Mays has been named the Greatest Active Baseball Player and has been twice named the National League's Most Valuable Player. He is a certain Hall of Famer and quite possibly may be officially declared the greatest baseball player of all time, as well as the most popular in the game.

Like most superstars, Mays would rather not talk of his records. Instead, he places winning far ahead of anything an individual can do on the field.

When the discussion swings around, as it inevitably does, to his individual heroics, he simply speaks of his philosophy of what makes a good or great ballplayer. The most important thing any player can do is a good job on the field. "If you can run, field, hit, run the bases, hit with power, throw and do all the other things that are a part of the game," Mays says, "then you're a good ball player." No one will deny, then, that Willie Mays is a good ball player.

It is almost a certainty that Mays will become the manager of the Giants upon his retirement as an active player, but if he continues to play as he has this season, Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, may have a long wait for him.

Just for the record, here are the other members of the "3000-Hit Club":

TY COBB (4,191), STAN MUSIAL (3,630), TRIS SPEAKER (3,514), HONUS WAGNER (3,415), EDDIE COLLINS (3,310), NAP LAJOIE (3,242), PAUL WANER (3,152), CAP ANSON (3,081) and HANK AARON (still in there swinging).

Factory Has Many Strikes

Because of strikes, Italy is now importing more cars than it is exporting—a most unusual situation in the land of the Fiat, Maserati, Ferrari, Avanti, Alfa Romeo and Isotta-Fraschini.

Every day now, 4,000 Italians buy new cars and every fourth car is of foreign make. Government economists are beginning to worry about the strong rise in auto imports. They blame labor disputes.

Strikes have severely limited the production of the Fiat company, Italy's largest car producer. The firm has experienced 300 strikes in 150 days this year.

Ironically, Fiat cannot fill domestic orders at a time when it is building a car plant for the Soviet Union in Togliatti, on the Volga. Currently, a would-be Fiat 128 sedan buyer has to wait six or seven months for his car, which sells for $2,322. The entire auto industry in Italy now has a waiting list numbering 400,000 potential customers for domestic cars.

The impatient Italians are turning to dealers of French and West German imports for their new cars. GM, Ford and Chrysler also benefit from the situation.

Most of Fiat's strikes are actually "chessboard" work stoppages, hitting different workshops for a few hours every day. This tactic, intended to obtain higher productivity bonuses for the workers, disrupts the flow of parts for assembly lines, idling other workers.

16 Students To Be Aided By Gulf Oil

As part of an investment by Gulf Oil Corporation of more than $3 million in higher education this year, 16 students at four black-oriented colleges will receive scholarships this fall.

The grants were announced last week in Pittsburgh by Dr. A. Lewis, Jr., the company's senior vice president and chairman of the firm's aid to education committee.

According to Dr. Lewis, a freshman, sophomore, junior and senior will be selected by the faculty at each of the schools -- Howard University, North Carolina A & T State, Shaw University and Tuskegee Institute -- to receive the scholarships. At Tuskegee and North Carolina, the awardees will be selected in the mechanical engineering department. At Shaw and Howard, business administration students will receive the grants.

An incoming freshman will be selected at each school in each subsequent year, so Gulf will have four continuing scholarships in force at the schools. In each case, the student will have tuition, books and fees paid to a maximum of $1,500 a year, renewable if he or she maintains satisfactory progress.

Other facets of Gulf's aid to education program include capital grants, departmental assistance grants and unrestricted grants to colleges and universities, as well as a number of fellowships to graduate students.

Nader Sorry Safety Chief Is Quitting

Douglas Toms, a Nixon appointee to head the National Traffic Safety Bureau, is now considering leaving for a job in private industry. He has been in office only since January 15 of this year.

He has confirmed reports that he and his wife have bought a home in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and that they intend to settle there, where, he states, there are "a couple of opportunities available."

Reports of his expected departure from Washington have upset safety advocate Ralph Nader, who considers Toms an excellent selection for the difficult task of strengthening the automotive safety program.

"This would be an unfortunate setback for automotive safety," declared Nader, "particularly if his successor is to come from the old traffic safety establishment or from the industry."

Toms has declined to indicate when he intends to resign, but has indicated that his target date is January 1, 1971, at the latest.

At Toms' insistence, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe removed the safety bureau from the Federal Highway Administration and placed it directly under Transportation.

Toms declared he would not leave his present position until these objectives have been achieved:

- * Promulgation of a regulation requiring new cars to be equipped with airbags that would automatically inflate to cushion occupants in crashes.
- * Establishment of priorities, with programs to protect car occupants in crashes and to curb drunk driving sharing first place.
- * Completion of recruitment of top personnel.
- * Reorganization of the bureau, paring it down to a workable unit.

A possible successor to Toms is Dr. Charles R. Hartman, who was brought into the bureau last month as deputy director by Toms.

Hartman was formerly director of the highway safety division of the Highway Users Federation. He holds a Ph.D. in traffic administration from Michigan State University.

Stone Says Goodbye to Today Show

Chuck Stone, the well-known black author and lecturer, who has contributed commentaries on racial issues to television, "Today" program, is withdrawing because, he said, of his apparent inability to communicate with "white mid-America."

Stone said: "What does this all mean? That things are hopeless for this country? Certainly not. We have survived several major wars, depressions and any number of rebellions. We will also survive our present tensions and alienations, but time runs out and America is caught in a vise between the Scylla of an angry black community demanding more and the Charydis of a resentful white community insisting on less.

"Perhaps what is needed today is a different kind of voice even on the 'Today' show, that will somehow find that magic formula for lessening the antagonisms and reducing the ill feelings.

"I wish I were wise enough to offer a solution, but all I've got left is still a warm, undying affection for my fellow man and a curiously unsinkable belief that somehow my country will one day be able to get it together."

Stuart Schulberg, producer of "Today," who had invited Stone to appear regularly on the program more than a year ago, said he regretted Stone's decision. "Naturally it's depressing and discouraging for any communicator to receive the sort of antagonistic mail Chuck has received lately," Schulberg said. "I felt Chuck's contributions were important, whether consistently popular or not, because they did convey the real dismay of a minority which deserves to be heard through the media."
